

Frederick Police Chief spoke at Civic Association meeting

On May 16, 2018, the meeting of the Worman's Mill Civic Association was an interesting one. Our speaker for the evening was police Chief Ed Hargis, Frederick Police Department. He is steering the Frederick Police Department as it grows and evolves alongside our booming city. He maintains crime reduction and community partnerships continue to be his main focus. But he states, the police can't do it alone, so we need strong relationships with our community. The Frederick Police Department is committed to ensuring Frederick City's exceptional quality of life. The department aggressively combats crime through a variety of policing strategies, including data-driven policing, problem-solving, and community policing. The department is incorporating new policing technology, engaging in expansive recruiting efforts and lobbying for new headquarters. This was an occasion in which he provided us with a better understanding of what is occurring in the police department. Those who attended came away with a clearer understanding of the activities of the police department and how they affect the city. The meeting was at the Clubhouse.
